

Two Organizations To Observe Hunting And Fishing Day

Co-operating with the Grayling Sportsman's Club in the observance of National Hunting and Fishing Day; the George Mason Chapter of T.U. will be on hand to offer instructions in the sport of Fly Fishing.

Equipment and qualified craftsmen will be at the Sportsman's Club building all day Saturday, Sept. 27th, to offer advice, instructions and helpful suggestions in both Fly Casting and Fly Tying to visitors.

As the future of Hunting and Fishing in America becomes increasingly threatened by special preservationist groups who have yet to learn the meaning of the word conservation, both anglers and hunters alike must act now to insure that our heritage; the right to hunt and fish with proper management and control, will not be lost for future generations.

Hunting and Fishing has always been and should continue to be extremely helpful in game and fish management. No Sportsman would wish to contribute to the already too long list of species in danger of extinction; however all citizens should remember that conservation and preservation do NOT mean the same thing.

Many Subjects Discussed At AuSable River Assn. Meeting

Directors of the AuSable River System Property Owners Association met recently at the home of Past President James Robison on the Main Street.

President Vincent (Ben) McKouen announced his committee appointments:

Steering—William Grimes, Nelson Miles, Charles R. Green, Calvin Gates.

Membership—McKouen, Arthur Binard, Emory Sylvester, Hal H. Smith.

Publicity—Abner C. Sager, Walter T. Bromley, Robison.

Many reports of bad conduct on the rivers continue to come from members, no doubt because of the actions of a small percentage of the canoeists. The extra surveillance by the Sheriff Department during July and August, paid for by Association funds, did not seem to produce the hoped for results.

Other actions of possibly more benefit for members were discussed and will be further investigated.

Grimes reported contacts and meeting with representatives of other river associations to form a group to provide a united front to deal with common problems. The next meeting with representatives is scheduled for October 4.

A report to members will explain and urge participation in Operation Identification. In the program, driver license number is engraved on items in the home such as TV, radio, toaster, tools, etc. for identification in the event of breaking and pilfering.

Stickers indicating participation in Operation Identification may be secured from the Michigan State Police.

The next meeting of the Directors is scheduled to be held on October 18.

Travel & Adventure Series To Begin This Friday

The Third Annual Travel and Adventure Series sponsored by the Crawford AuSable Community School Program will get underway on Tuesday evening, September 23 at 8:00 p.m. in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium, located in the new Grayling High School. Opening series will be photographer-lecturer Joe Adair and his exciting air-tour of the United States entitled "HIDDEN JEWELS—AN AMERICAN MOSAIC". Mr. Adair was a member of America's first Peace Corps sent to Ethiopia and was recently included in the American Junior Chamber of Commerce annual volume OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA.

Not being satisfied to crawl along the surface of the earth, Joe Adair fell in love with flying and obtained his pilot's license. It was with a Panoramic Camera and an airplane that "HIDDEN JEWELS" was created. Most of the scenes of the travelogue will not be recognized because the film is of America's secreted treasures, her little known wonders. A superb musical score and a vigorous and appealing narration by Joe Adair as he plays the game, "Where in the world are we?" makes this travelogue true to form of being the best buy in family entertainment today.

Tickets to the entire Travel and Adventure Series are presently available at the Community School Office and at the Grayling Pharmacy. Each ticket contains six admissions which may be used in any manner the ticket holder wishes; that is, one person may go to all six travelogues or six people may go to one travelogue, or any combination in between. Price for a season ticket is just $8.00 for adults and $5.00 for children under 12 years and senior citizens.

"Hidden Jewels" will be followed with five other outstanding travelogues which include Belgium, The South Pacific, India, Scotland and finally the famous Dennis Cooper and his "NORTHWESTERN ADVENTURE". More information concerning the Travel and Adventure Program can be obtained by calling 348-7641 and asking for the Community School Office.

Frederic School Vote Nov. 4th

The Crawford AuSable School Board decided to propose the new Frederic Elementary School as a single issue on November 4.

Superintendent Fraser Dean stated the Board's decision was based on the following considerations:

1. The physically unsound condition of the older building in Frederic.
2. The potential hazards posed by the deteriorated electrical wiring and deteriorated wood from construction.
3. The dampening effect of the educationally obsolete and unattractive building on the children's education.
4. The prohibitive costs of remodeling.
5. The possibility that if the decision were delayed the building could face condemnation before a replacement could be built.

6. The intense desire on the part of Frederic area parents for adequate school facilities.

Dean estimated the total cost of the building would be $515,000 to be paid by issuing bonds that would be redeemed over a period of 20 to 30 years at an average cost to each taxpayer of $5.00 per year.

The Board also passed a resolution to form a Board-Citizens planning committee that would investigate facility needs for Grayling area youngsters in the next few years with a possible bond proposal in the fall of 1976.

Mental Health Counseling Active In County

The North Central Michigan Mental Health Clinic provides professional counseling to individuals experiencing emotional problems. Roger VanderSchie, Director, reported that the clinic served 1 out of every 30 people living in Crawford County during the period of July 1, 1974 through June 30, 1975. VanderSchie stated that the largest number of patients served fell in the age groups 6 through 12 and 21 through 30.

VanderSchie reported that the mental health clinic is funded through State and County dollars. He added that "beginning in January, the State will pay 90 percent of the cost and the County will pay 10 percent as defined under Public Act 258 of 1974". Patients are charged fees. However, such fees are based upon gross income and number of dependents, he said. Approximately 53 percent of all patients treated were either on public assistance, Social Security or earned less than $5,000.00 per year. The number of patients who fell into this income category increased by 53 percent over last year, VanderSchie reported.

According to VanderSchie, 58 percent of all patients treated had received no previous mental health services before being seen at the North Central Mental Health Clinic. He stated that this figure indicates the tremendous need for mental health services.

The North Central Mental Health Clinic has been in existence since July 1973.

VanderSchie stated that he expects to see a leveling off of services over the next few years. We have increased our staff in Crawford County in order to keep up with the mental health needs of the County. There are three full time therapists working out of the Grayling office. Mr. Alan Platt and Miss Mary Masters work primarily with adults and Mr. Steven Risen, our newest staff member will work in consultation with the school, VanderSchie said.

VanderSchie added, that the clinic is located at 308 Lawndale Drive. He stated that services are available by calling 348-8522 during day time hours. Individuals experiencing a crisis during the evening or weekends should call (616) 775-3463 collect, he said.

Roscommon Romps, 26-0

Vikes at Gaylord Friday

The Grayling Viking gridders were shutout for the second time last Friday when the powerful Roscommon Bucks handed the Vikes a 26-0 lacing, as they warmed up for the Jack Pine conference wars where they are considered favorites to replace Evert for the title.

This Friday evening, the Vikings ship sets sail in the tough Michigan-Huron Shores Conference sea when they move into Gaylord for their clash with the Blue Devils in their long-standing rivalry. Both squads are winless as they open league play.

It was practically a one-man show at Roscommon as veteran Jeff Cousineau led the Bucks with 3 touchdowns in their convincing win over the Vikes.

Cousineau, a three-year veteran for coach Tom Weede's veteran squad, scored on runs of one, eight and 37 yards. He also intercepted a pass to set up his third touchdown.

The Vikes were unable to get an offense going, as their downfield blocking failed, and will have to work hard on this part of their game this week as they prepare for the Blue Devils.

Coach Mike Wieland said, some of our bigger players have not developed the way we thought they would, and we plan on making some changes this week.

Wieland stated, he and his coaching staff have decided to go with smaller and quicker players this week in hopes to provide some blocking for our backs downfield. It's been a long time since we have gone two games without scoring a point, he added.

Greg Gohlro was the leading ground gainer for the Vikes last week with 57 yards. He was followed by Will Roach with 47 yards rushing.

The defensive unit was led by Larry Baynham with 8 solo tackles and 7 assists, followed by Jeff Schlaack with 5 solos and 12 assists, Scott Hanson, 4 solos, 10 assists and a fumble recovery, and Tom Haskel with 5 solos and 6 assists.

Following the Gaylord game, the Vikes will be home for their next two M-HSC contests when they host Charlevoix Friday night, Sept. 26, and the St. Ignace Saints will be here on Saturday, Oct. 4 for the annual homecoming game that will start at 1:30 p.m.

Parker - Bear In Play-Off

The play-off between Parker Surveying and Bear Archery will be held this Sunday at 1:00 p.m. at the General Telephone Field in Beaver Creek on Old 76 for the championship.

The life expectancy of persons with Cystic Fibrosis has increased over the past 20 years so that now more than 50% are living beyond 18 years of age.

Over 100 Cystic Fibrosis Centers operate across the nation with 5 of those located in Michigan.

Save money in your attic this winter.

Insulate!

At the direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Consolidated is again offering a low-cost home ceiling insulation program designed to conserve Natural Gas and hold down heating costs.

Last year, nearly 42,400 Michigan Consolidated customers installed ceiling insulation, saving over one billion cubic feet of Natural Gas, and cut their home heating costs by up to 17%.

These results were gratifying indeed. Enough Natural Gas was conserved to heat over 7,600 additional homes this winter.

If you still haven't taken advantage of this easy, low-cost program, now's the time to act. Many homeowners can install insulation themselves for about $125. Our free handbook tells you how. Get your copy at any Michigan Consolidated Business Office, most building supply outlets or write or call us.

Or, we can have the job done for you by one of our participating subcontractors and add the cost to your monthly gas bills. The cost? About $250 for homes with less than 1,000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. Or, you can pay over an extended period at an interest rate of 1% monthly on the unpaid balance. (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%.)

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost ceiling insulation program? You'll be cutting your heating costs up to 17% and helping our country conserve its Natural Gas supplies, too.

From Our Corner...

We wish to add our affirmative vote along with the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors' decision on re-electing Paul Thomson for another year as our president.

With the transformation from an executive manager who has been head of the Chamber for the past 11 years, to the new one since July we can appreciate the problems that may surface at any time, having spent our tenure on the board.

We are certain, with the help of Paul and the rest of the board, Mike Steele will have an easier row to hoe — if only from their experience in our Crawford County world.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Paths to Antichrist

During the future seven years of great tribulation upon the earth, the entire world will be under the control of a man called antichrist. The very name implies he will be against Christ and in place of Christ. This antichrist will be preceded by a growing number of smaller antichrists who will increase in number up until the rapture when Jesus Christ removes His church. Following the rapture of the true believers, antichrist will be revealed to organize and take control of all economic, political and religious systems.

There were already antichrists in the first century A.D. 2 John 7. Jesus said that the increase of false christs, and false prophets would be a sign of His second coming. Matthew 24:24. Today, there are far more antichrists than at any time in history.

John reminds us of the test for antichrists. "For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist." 2 John 7. Now there are many who will say a man named Jesus was born in the flesh, but few will say that this same Jesus is the Christ or anointed messiah of the Old Testament come in human flesh. When one denies that Jesus is the Christ of God or the Jehovah God of the Old Testament, the Bible says such a one is a deceiver and an antichrist. To recognize or proclaim that the Jesus Christ of the Bible is less than Jehovah God is antichrist. He is the second person of the trinity equal in every way with the Father and the Holy Spirit.

John reminds us of the second test for antichrists. "Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God..." 2 John 9. The doctrine of Christ is the teaching of Christ or the Bible. This doctrine or teaching of Christ tells us who He is, what He has said and what He has done. Jesus told Pilate, "Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice." John 18:37. Jesus had previously identified truth as the Word of God in John 17:17. Jesus said to some Jews who believed on Him, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed." John 8:31. Just as Jesus made believing the Bible a test for discipleship, he also made it a test for being antichrist. "He that is of God heareth God's Words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God." John 8:47. "And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not." John 8:38. One who does not believe the Bible calls Jesus Christ a liar, and is antichrist.

A sign that the spirit of antichrist is increasing and the rapture of the Church draws near is the growing belief that all christs are good. Jesus said, "For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect." Matthew 24:24. I have personally talked to a large number of people in the Grayling area who believe all christs are good, all religions are good and all religious leaders are good. We can only close with the words of Jesus in Matthew 24:25, "Behold, I have told you before." The paths to antichrist have been carefully laid. I firmly believe that if the true church were raptured today, tomorrow the world would welcome the antichrist with open arms. (adv.)

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank the Crawford County Sheriff Dept. for their quick response, courtesy and concern the night they took me to the hospital. I would also like to thank the entire staff at Mercy Hospital for their wonderful care and interest in my welfare, so dedicated, efficient and pleasant all the time; also, the dietary department who were so interested in my getting such good meals. What a godsend to the entire County. Also, I wish to thank all who visited me and those who sent cards and gifts and Drs. Kieler and Oppy.

"Main Stream Musing"

CALL ME MAMA

[By Jaymee Seidel]

You know you're a Mother when:

The last child starts kindergarten, but you still find yourself tuning in Captain Kangaroo in the mornings.

Every recipe you make starts with a mental note to: "Mix 1 Tablespoon of flour with 1 1/2 Tablespoons of water to make a paste. Give this to your three-year-old, along with scissors and an old Sears catalog, to keep him out of your hair, while you are making this recipe." You knock yourself out making lasagna that takes five hours from start to finish, and no one at the table likes it nearly as well as the canned kind.

Your spine stiffens and your eyes slam shut at the words, "Hey, Mom, look where I am!" Every jar you were saving to make jelly in is out in the yard somewhere with a baby frog, an earthworm, or a cricket in it.

You notice the goldfish perking up whenever you pass their bowl because you're the only one who ever feeds them.

The Sesame Street theme song is what you find yourself humming around the house.

There is a drawer in your kitchen known as "Show and Tell" which contains an old pants hanger, a red plastic pig with one leg gone, a piece of aged wood with two nails in it, and an empty toilet paper roll.

The front of your refrigerator is an art gallery.

Your old slips get recycled as capes for Superman or Wonder Woman.

Rainy days give you Excedrin headache number 4,986.

The thing you check for on a cereal box is not its 8 essential vitamins, but to be sure it doesn't have a toy inside for the kids to fight over.

Filling a Christmas stocking is more fun than emptying one used to be...

Theater Group Meeting Stated

The Main Street Players conducted their first meeting since their highly successful summer productions, "Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon" and "Hansel and Gretel." Two important items were taken care of. Election of new officers was held, according to the new constitutional guidelines limiting one term of office to six months. Four out of five officers were re-elected. June Karjalainen will retain her post as President, Jim Cousineau is again Vice-president, Carol Chilton was re-elected as Secretary, and Josie Ostling was unanimously asked to remain on as Treasurer. Josie, who has held her post since the inception of the group, remarked that she should get a "plaque for longevity". Margaret DeSantis and Bill Curnalia were newly elected as co-coordinators for Public Relations and Publicity.

That business out of the way, the group set about to accomplish the more important business of appointing a screening committee to begin work on our next play. The screening committee will consist of Mike Dosch, Craig Dandy, Dean Darling, and Andrea Schaaf. Their duties will be to present a selection of plays to the group, at which time they will be voted on. The next MSP production will tentatively be produced in the beginning of December. The group is considering the possibility of doing smaller productions during the fall and spring, saving the higher-costing, larger productions till summer. Keeping that in mind, the screening committee will present small-scale plays, one-acts, low-cost productions.

And in order to hear what the screening committee has come up with, the Main Street Players welcome the public to their next meeting, slated for Monday evening, September 29th, at 7:00 p.m. in the Basement Meeting Room of the Roscommon County Building. New members will be welcomed and introduced, other suggestions for plays will be entertained, and refreshments will be served. Any Grayling resident who will have a hard time providing his or her own transportation can call 348-2271, and a car pool will be arranged.

This "Let Me Shake Your Hand" meeting should be enjoyable - if you're bored, busy, anxious to find an outlet for your creativity, eager to make new friends, have a knack for organization or a secret yen to be a star, join the Main Street Players!

Teacher political power to focus on White House

I see by the papers where the National Education Association plans to endorse a candidate for President of the United States for the first time in the 1976 election.

This announcement came from a Michigan man, John Ryor of Battle Creek, a math teacher who recently took office as president of the 1.7 million member NEA.

Homestate pride beside the point, the NEA choice probably won't be that other Michigan - based president, The Hon. Gerald R. Ford, either. NEA President Ryor has already made that clear.

"You are either into the political game and play it, or you more often than not become a victim of it," Ryor is quoted as saying.

That sounds ringingly similar to sentiments often heard in Michigan and national politics from the late Walter Reuther and the late Gus Scholle and others of the earlier organized labor movement.

Their line used to be that decisions of government could take from the working man what their unions had won at the bargaining table; so the only way to control such a development was to nurture political muscle. And so they did.

The organized teachers, in both Michigan and the nation, are following suit - and in spades, to mix a bridge-table metaphor. They could find no more shining examples of the effectiveness of melding economic power with political power.

Like Mr. Reuther and Mr. Scholle in their days of prominence, Mr. Ryor indicates the teachers lean toward the Democratic party. For example, the judgement is already made on Mr. Ford for president—regardless of what candidate and what platform the Democrats might come up with in response to a Ford candidacy.

"I think," said Mr. Ryor, "it would be difficult for our teachers in this country to support President Ford or the current administration on the basis of its education record."

That the Ford "education record" may be wanting in Mr. Ryor's lights may be true; but isn't it possible—just a teeny-weensy bit possible, perhaps—that the Democratic party might come up with somebody as a candidate whose "education record" may not be anything for teachers to shout about? Apparently in Mr. Ryor's eyes, nothing could be worse than Mr. Ford. Personally, I'll wait to see what the alternatives are; isn't that more objective, as we used to be taught in the classroom?

Ryor's view harks back to Gus Schoole's famous claim that he would never vote for a Republican, and I doubt if he ever did.

NEA plans to spend "Upwards of a million dollars" in its first presidential campaign in 1976, according to Mr. Ryor; in last year's non-presidential year, NEA is reported to have spent about $3 million on congressional and governors' races. Organized teachers are not to be taken lightly.

Some other Ryor views along this line interest me, also. He said:

"Teachers have so often been subjugated to the idea that they shouldn't take part in politics except to vote . . . that there's something inherently unhealthy or unprofessional about it."

"Quite the contrary; as the chief propagators of the democratic faith in this country, they ought to be principally involved in helping shape the decisions."

I will not argue with the teacher's right to take part in politics; Mr. Ryor is correct that there is nothing "inherently unhealthy and unprofessional" about political participation, and in my opinion school board or public restrictions to the contrary are archaic and ill-advised.

But there's enormous power concentrated in the teacher's organization: power of numbers, power of dollars, and power of access to the minds of the future.

It may be arguable that teachers are "chief propagators of the democratic faith in this country," as the NEA head claims. Many parents express grave concern that teachers of today don't exhibit the proper appreciation for "the democratic faith"; my contact with teachers—admittedly more on the collegiate level than in high school or elementary levels—indicates this concern is deserved.

Organized teachers have considerable political power; of this there is no doubt. They have the dollars, they can marshal the manpower, and they have sheer numbers within their own ranks.

Even more important is teacher influence on shaping the future of American politics through the classroom contact.

All of these elements of power should be used with restraint and with caution. I hope the leaders of the teachers' political emergence are equal to the challenge of responsibility that goes with the actuality of power.

Sniffin' about for ways to save energy?

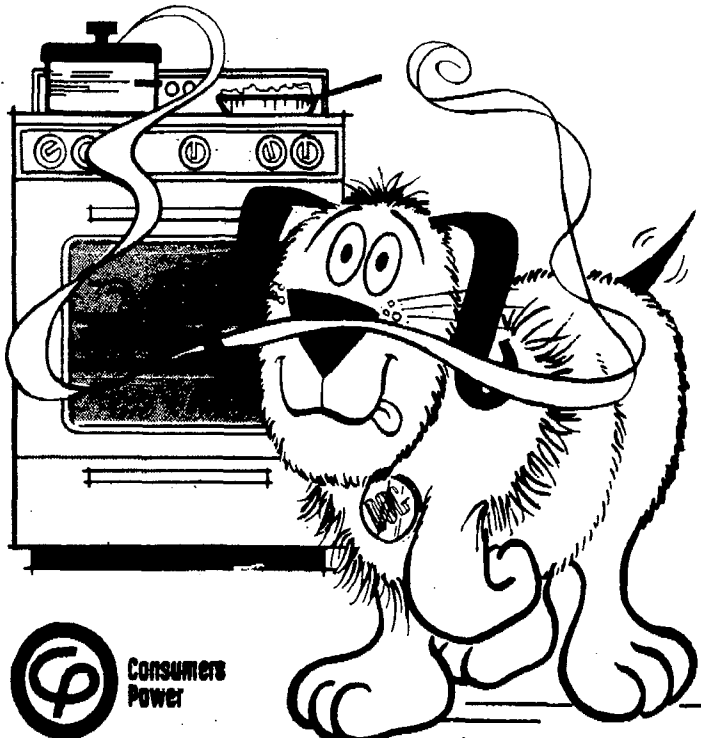

Try these.

If you're going to cook one dish in the oven, why not use it for the entire meal? Time your baking for multiple uses. Put a pie in with a roast . . . bake two cakes and freeze one.

Fit the pan to the surface burner being used. Cover pots and pans so less heat escapes. And thaw frozen foods in your refrigerator to reduce cooking time.

Small appliances such as toasters, electric skillets, toaster ovens, and popcorn poppers generally use less energy for specialized jobs than does the range.

The kitchen isn't the only room where you can save energy, but it's a good place to start. To learn more about it, call your local Consumers Power Company office or stop in and pick up our free booklet, "It Makes Sense to Save Energy."

Hook or Club, Mr. Sportsman?

If you had your druthers, would you prefer a clout on the head or a stab in the throat?

Arnold Huizinga might well wonder. He went golfing in Grand Rapids the other day and came home with a 25-pound chinook salmon. He clubbed it out of a fairway stream with his 7-iron.

Arnold was pretty proud of his unique accomplishment. Did anyone ever make a hole-in-one — or even a decent putt — with a fishing pole? He posed for photos and his story made newspapers and TV shows all over the nation.

And that's when the fish began to smell. "Sportsmen" were not impressed with Arnold's feat. They were outraged. This must have confused Arnold who probably figured he was quite a sportsman himself. He had succeeded at one sport while playing another sport. How big a sportsman can you be? How many baseball players make touchdowns in center-field?

But Arnold hadn't considered the hunter's definition of "sportsman". In such sports as hockey and football it is easy to be a sportsman. Just don't call the cops when your opponent maims you. Good sportsmen never go to court. Instead, they simply turn a noble cheek and keep a brave eye out for the chance to maim the guy back.

Hunters and fishermen have it tougher becoming sportsmen. To the outsider, it appears that the "home run" of hunting is to kill and the way to keep score is to count dead bodies. This is not a nice image to put before a sissy public brought up by Walt Disney. Could the killer of Bambi be a sportsman?

This is not fair, the outdoorsmen insist. They do not go into the woods and waters to kill. They do it to get off the freeway and breathe the clean fresh air of an all-night poker game in a Holiday Inn. They take their sons fishing because it is the American thing to do. If fish could talk, they'd probably speak Russian.

Hunters do not strap dead deer to their fenders and drive through town to show off. Did you ever try to get a 12-point buck into a glove compartment?

To improve their image as sportsmen, the hunters worked to get laws passed to make it tougher for them to kill. No machine guns allowed, for instance. No shooting pheasants until they are out of the gamekeeper's truck. No shooting within 15 feet of a waitress. No fair killing a female deer without first showing her your special permit. No fair bagging more than your legal limit — and the legal limit of everyone else in camp plus their relatives back home who cannot have been deceased more than 2 years.

This is what got Arnold Huizinga in trouble. He was mainly a golfer and he didn't know about the law saying it's OK to kill a fish by putting a hook in its mouth and yanking — but it's illegal to kill it by hitting it on the head.

Huizinga faces a maximum fine of $100 or 90 days in jail for being a lousy sportsman. The dummy thought a dead fish was a dead fish, no matter how it got that way.

After all, what makes a hook in the mouth more sporting than a knock on the skull? The idea is supposed to be to give the fisherman a bigger challenge and the fish a better chance to survive. But if I were an innocent fish hunting dinner below your boat, I think I would be better off if you were armed with a 7-iron rather than a hook and line.

Of course, if I were a fish — or a pheasant or a deer — you wouldn't know what I thought. Which certainly makes things nicer for armed sportsmen everywhere.

McOwen - Steele Speak Vows

Pamela Ann McOwen and Michael Craig Steele were united in marriage at the Trinity United Methodist Church in Flint, Michigan, on August 23, at 5:00 p.m. Mr. Steele is the manager of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Pam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle McOwen of suburban Flint, and Mike's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Steele, also of that city. Reverend David Kidd officiated at the beautiful traditional wedding, which began with organ music provided by Mrs. Suzanne Patek. The sister of the bride, Patricia McOwen, artistically sang Roberta Bitgood's "The Greatest of These," which is an arrangement based on the text from 1 Corinthians 13.

The bride appeared on the arm of her father. Her wedding dress was fashioned of lute-song in a fitted and flowing design. The bodice above an empire waistline featured a square front neckline trimmed with exquisite lace. Gathered full-length sleeves flowed into lace-trimmed buttoned cuffs. An A-lined gored skirt descended into a cathedral train which was bordered by two tiers of lace. A Camelot style cap of Argentan lace held a nylon tulle veil edged in matching lace, which fell gracefully the full length of the cathedral train. Her colonial style bouquet was arranged using pink roses, as the accent for a background of pale green and white starburst carnations and baby's breath.

The groom was handsomely dressed in a gray cut-away Windsor tuxedo, accented by a black buttoned vest, and a black bow tie. A boutonniere of a single pink rose and baby's breath on green background matched the bride's bouquet.

The groomsmen, similarly attired in gray cut-away Windsor tuxedo jackets, wore black trousers and pink ruffled shirts with pink-edged white carnation boutonnieres. Sheldon Youtz of Maumee, Ohio, acted as best man for Mr. Steele, while his brothers, Gordon Steele of Plymouth, Michigan, and Rob Steele of Flint, ushered along with Jack Martin, of Perryburg, Ohio.

Rich, deep, varied tones of pink were featured in the floral dresses of the bride's attendants; Patricia McOwen, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor, and bridesmaid Cynthia McOwen, also a sister. Also attending Pam were Sue Alexander of Bay Village, Ohio, and Patty Rogan of Youngstown, Ohio.

SEEING BEYOND

This is Basil. Much of the time he can't see beyond his nose.

But with a nose like Basil's who needs to see!

Many folks have temporarily-impaired spiritual vision. But sometimes they can compensate in other ways.

... like the man who brought his youngsters to church recently: "Myself, I'm not religious," he said, "but I sense their need for character development."

Surprisingly, that father has returned to church. Now he is just as faithful as his children.

We used to say of Basil, the moment he shakes himself he's got "twenty-twenty" vision. The same is true of many people once they sense their God-given responsibilities.

Yesterday I wrote part of the column, and one of my boys came in, looked at it, said it was really bad and threatened to tear it up. I only said that I'd rewrite it if he did. He backed down, but this morning I re-read it and decided he was totally right and tore it up myself. It always surprises me how much smarter (at times) teen-agers can be than old goats in their fifties. So I thank him, publicly, in print.

Fall is falling all around us. The trees are turning into their usual beautiful fall colors, the ferns have all turned brown, the nights cold and the days warm. All the signs of an early fall. I just hope that we have the precipitation this winter which we have had this summer. Crawford County, as a resort area, needs snow to attract skiers, both downhill and cross-country, as well as snowmobilers (those who know the State laws and have enough smarts to obey them).

Mercy! I've been called for jury duty again - the third or fourth time in the last six years. But with my strong opinions, prejudices and general outlook on life, I would strongly doubt if I would ever be selected as a member. I was, however, once chosen and even ended up as foreman, a position which I thoroughly detested, but was "awarded", because with my "male chauvinistic pig" upbringing I could barely avoid. I helped the women with their coats, seated them and even served them coffee. So the group made me the head man. Exactly what I needed. Like another hole in the head. But I did valiant battle with my fellow jurors, fighting for what I believed in. We won, but not easily, believe me, friends. When the Judge gives the jury his charges as to what or what not you can decide upon, you haven't got a helluva lot of options. I will always feel that our group did the right thing. But I never want to serve on another jury - no way. Judging another person is not up to me or any other person, including cops. That's God's job. We miserable humans haven't got the capability.

Back to fall, boring though it may be. But since I am not allowed to write about some of my favorite subjects, I guess I have to make comments about what interests me at the moment. In front of my window is a dead birch tree. It tried to make it this spring. It didn't even manage to make it at all. Everything died. To its right is a Norway Pine (sometimes called a Red Pine). It passed on awfully quickly, and it's a relatively young tree too. Damn shame.

I just went to the can, and after what I had to do, looked in the mirror. That was a grievous mistake; I discovered that I was unshaven, uncombed and generally unkempt. (So what else is new?). I combed my hair, buttoned my shirt, washed my hands and face, but shaving was another problem. My razor is busted - a problem one once in a while has with electric razors. I have a beautiful Schick Injector razor, with a blade which wouldn't even slice a rock - and no shaving cream. And no money to buy either blade or any cream. Oh, hell, maybe I'll just grow a bunch of hair on my face and look like what most people think is JACK PINE.

There will not be a Pack Meeting this month. The next one will be in October. Watch for the date.

Miss Evelyn Wood from Taylor spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kesby and George.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haggadone are home from a month's vacation out west. They saw a lot of interesting places. We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Haggadone is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and family of Frederic and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Southwell of Grayling spent September 5th, 6th and 7th at Trout Lake in the Upper Peninsula. They also visited Tahquamenon Falls.

Forecast Period:
September 21 to September 27

ARIES
Mar. 21-Apr. 19
Curb the urge to give advice on affairs of the heart. The romantic mischief of an associate has little to do with you.

TAURUS
Apr. 20-May 20
By way of letter, phone call or third party, you'll learn about the deeds of an old companion... whose motives and actions you never could comprehend.

GEMINI
May 21-June 20
Someone nearby has done a little mind reading. Apparently, you have tipped your hand by word or gesture. In other words, one of your deepest secrets will be exposed.

MOONCHILD
June 21-July 22
Your present circumstances will not permit self pity. Whether or not you are aware of it, your in better material position than most people. Think about it.

LEO
July 23-Aug. 22
There's danger in the belief that soft lights and sweet music works miracles with the opposite sex. There's a mysterious magnetism that is, truly, the determining factor.

VIRGO
Aug. 23-Sept. 22
You won't be in the mood to accept criticism, constructive or otherwise. Anyway, stand by for an unsolicited opinion that comes from an envious source.

LIBRA
Sept. 23-Oct. 22
This week, the proper handling of money won't be one of your stronger points. Obviously, you must not make a major purchase, especially on a long term basis.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23-Nov. 21
You'll be in contact with someone who will not reveal their hidden past. Bluntly, it's not the time to make new friends. Keep to yourself as much as possible.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22-Dec. 21
Misinformation and half truths about a member of the opposite sex, seems to be in the scheme of things. Meaning? Don't become involved by listening to, or repeating what you hear.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22-Jan. 19
Things should go smoothly at your job, task or project. As a matter of fact, you can expect help and encouragement from unexpected sources.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20-Feb. 18
Hiding your shortcomings from others is one thing... try to kid yourself about your ability is something else. Don't attempt a project you cannot handle!

PISCES
Feb. 19-Mar. 20
Someone you have associated with, will take a sudden disliking to you. Why? You'll never know! Anyway, don't worry about it.

Essential Act Of Forest Management

We cannot "preserve" a tree, nor a grove of trees, for eventually each will die of natural causes. But, we can preserve a forest, by so caring for the trees in it that it is continuously populated by healthy, vigorous, growing trees.

This is best done by removing trees or groups of trees as they approach old age, or lose vigor, so then strong and young trees can have room to grow.

This is the key to maximization of forest benefits whether esthetic, economic, environmental, or all these together... the same basic management is needed.

Plan now for your woodlot's future. Improved forest stands can grow profits. Proper thinning through a selective cutting program can often eliminate as much as thirty years from the timber growing process.

Jim Squires, district Conservationist for the U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service, said "Our soil survey information shows the forestry potential of each soil and areas best suited for tree growing. When assisting a landowner to develop a conservation plan we encourage woodland improvements and tree planting as an important part of their total operations."

Private woodland owners in the Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District (SCD) interested in cash payments for planting trees and/or improving their timber stands may obtain information and assistance from any of the following offices:

Soil Conservation Service in Roscommon, the local Michigan Department of Natural Resources forester in Houghton Lake or Grayling, the Cooperative Extension Service in Roscommon, the county Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service (ASCS) office in Lake City (Roscommon County) or Kalkaska (Crawford County), local consulting foresters, local industry foresters, and local contractors in forestry services.

Top or Bottom

A crew of workmen were building a house. After a lot of activity, the foreman went to see the architect. "Say," he asked, "did you want this house built from the top down or from the bottom up?" "From the bottom up," was the astonished reply. "Okay." Then the foreman turned and yelled, "Tear 'er down, boys! We gotta start over."

A.B.W.A. Holds "Boss" Night

Tuesday evening, September 9th, was a memorable one for ABWA members, their bosses and guests. The evening was in honor of "the boss" and everything was done to make it enjoyable.

Cocktails were served in the Ojibwa Room of the Chief Shoppenagons Hotel. The group then moved to the Gold Dining Room where Elaine Harnad read the invocation and the assemblage was seated. A wonderful steak dinner was served by the hotel staff.

In keeping with the theme of the night which was the "Roaring Twenties" the evenings program began with six ABWA members (in Flapper costumes) singing a chorus of Five Foot Two while performing a stylized Charleston. Those performing were Phyllis Sauter, Sally Wert, Betty Bennett, Carol Miller, Jini Hindmarsh and Tanya Pelto.

President Tanya Pelto then led the crowd in a lively Sing-A-Long accompanied by Wayne Hindmarsh at the keyboard.

While everyone caught their breath Toastmistress, Betty Bennett introduced chapter officers and read a brief history of ABWA. Norma Naour read the ABWA Creed.

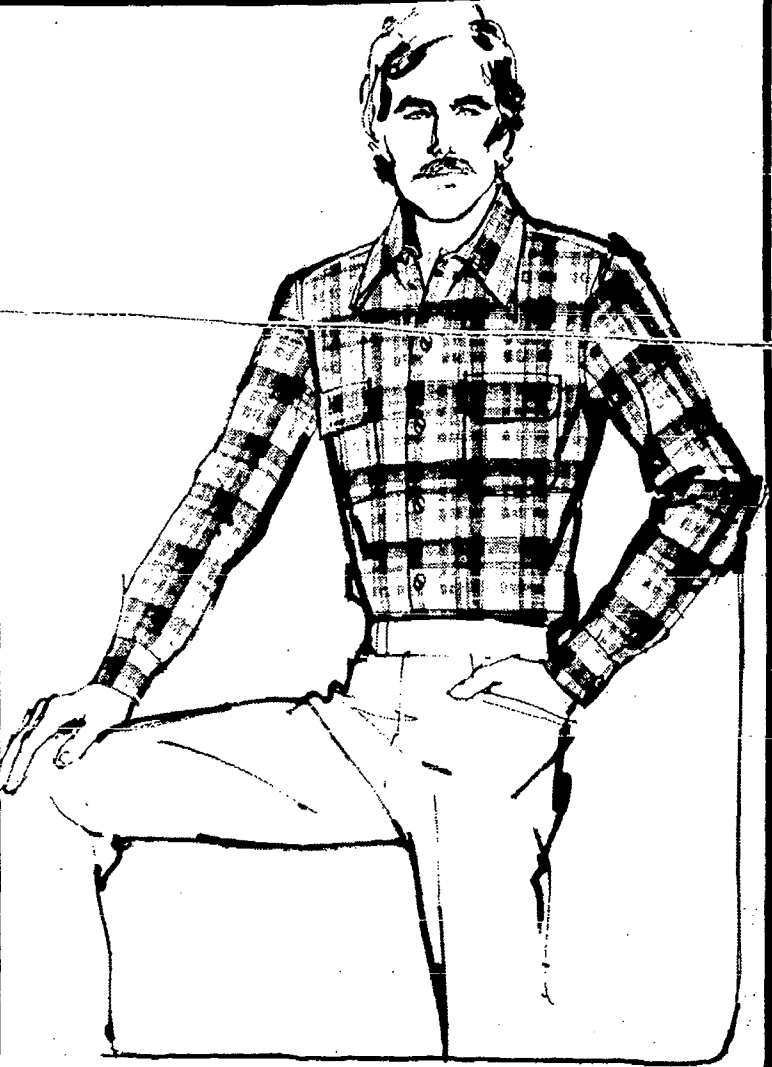

The highlight of "Boss Night" is the presentation of the plaque to the "Boss of the Year". The applause that followed the announcement of Earl "Chum" Longworth as the 1975 Boss of the Year, indicated the panels choice was excellent.

Phyllis Sauter, the Program Chairman, introduced our entertainment for the evening. Karen Davidson of Oscoda demonstrated in classic style the ancient middle eastern art of Belly Dancing. Karen is a real artist. Her grace and beautiful costumes were exceptional. The completely captivated audience showed their approval and enjoyment with resounding applause.

The program was concluded with Jini Hindmarsh reading the Benediction.

After-glo comments congratulated all ABWA members who helped to make the Annual Boss Night a success. Particular thank you's go to the Decorations and Program Chairmen who did such a great job in creating the proper atmosphere for an evening to be remembered.

another scoring drive as Austin went in for a TD from 3 yards out. Goinick ran for the 2 point conversion, and a 20-0 lead early in the third quarter.

Roscommon turned the ball over to Grayling's hard hitting defensive unit four times, as O'Mara, Steve Byce and Bill Hartig had fumble recoveries, and Holey intercepted a pass.

In the third quarter, tailback Chip Nicholas went in for a TD, and Steve Harland concluded the scoring with a 70 yard burst down the sidelines in the closing quarter.

Austin, O'Mara, Erickson and Hartig led the local squads defense in containing the little Bucks.

To Paul Thomson, President Chamb. of Commerce, Grayling

When such fine people as Jack and Aggie Trudgeon throw a canoe party I think the least that you Chamber people could do was to see that the weather cooperates. The idea of letting it rain every 15 minutes! Don't you have a direct connection up there? And another thing, you should post signs along the river warning people like Tyke and Sally that the AuSable River is very wet and cold this time of the year? We will expect your cooperation in this matter next time. Thanking you, Sincerely, Fay.
